

Welcome to IMMI

The city and county management professions are challenging, demanding and always evolving. To meet the needs of the community, city and county administrators and managers require ongoing professional development encompassing both technical training and leadership development in concert with ICMA's practices for effective local government management. Administrators and managers benefit from opportunities to develop skills, expand knowledge bases, learn innovative techniques and collaborate with colleagues in an environment that promotes relationship building. IMMI is designed for those purposes.
